

BUNKOED OUT OF $2400

REMARKABLE STORY TOLD BY TENDERFOOT

S. P. SHOPS MENACED BY BIG FIRE!

Flames Threaten to Destroy Property
at West Oakland.

At 3 o'clock this morning a fire was discovered in the roof of the upholstering shop in the West Oakland yards of the Southern Pacific Company. Measures were at once taken for its extinguishment, which was accomplished with comparatively trifling loss. The total damage done to the west end of the roof and one side of the shop does not exceed $100, according to the estimate made by Superintendent Inglebright, as very little was burned except the shingles. "Everything being soaked with rain," said Mr. Inglebright, "the fire burned slowly and we were saved from a conflagration and a very heavy loss. As it is the principal damage has been done by the water used in extinguishing the flames. Some of the stock has been pretty well soaked. None of the machinery in the shop was damaged in the slightest degree and everything is in running order today as if nothing had happened."

The fire is supposed to have started either from an overheated stove or from electric light wires imperfectly insulated.

The disaster which the company narrowly escaped is apparent from the fact that the upholstering shop which stands in the middle of the yards is pretty well filled with inflammable materials, and is surrounded by rolling stock and other work-shops filled with valuable stock and machinery. While the railroad people treat the incident lightly they all recognize that it was a very close shave.

I CAN'T GET AWAY TO MARRY YOU TODAY, HE SAYS

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 16.—The marriage of Miss Corinne Dixon, of Springfield, to Joseph Eddy, nephew of Lloyd Osborn, the novelist, which was to be held here Wednesday, has been postponed indefinitely.

Miss Dixon received a telegram yesterday from Eddy saying he would not be here Wednesday to marry her. Many wedding presents had been received and guests from a distance had begun to arrive.

Miss Dixon is said to be prostrated. Her friends are wondering why Eddy cannot be here Wednesday, and whether he is coming at all.

Since he was graduated at Drury College, this city, he has been in California.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH PROPERTY

The Trustees Want to Know Whether the Church Members Are Ready to Sell or Not.

Last Sunday Rev. C. R. Brown, pastor of the First Congregational Church, announced from the pulpit that on Wednesday, January 23—a week from tomorrow night—a meeting of the members of the church would be held for the purpose of ascertaining whether they desired to sell the property or retain it, no matter what figure might be offered for it.

"The object of the meeting," said L. E. Boardman, secretary of the Board of Trustees, "is to ascertain whether the church members are ready to sell, not as to whether they will accept any particular amount offered. The church members have not yet been consulted in the matter by the trustees, and so far as the trustees know, they may have no desire to sell at any price which may be named. The trustees want to know definitely the sentiment of the membership."

"It is true," he continued, "that we have been offered $400,000 for the property, but the meeting has not been called to determine whether the church will accept the offer."

"Have you any objection in naming the party making the offer?"

"That I cannot disclose," replied Mr. Boardman.

To the question: "Well, can you reveal to the public whether the offer came from a San Francisco firm or not?" Mr. Boardman's response was, "I cannot answer yes or no to that question."

The reason for pressing the question regarding the identity of the bidder is that it was freely rumored some time ago that the big San Francisco retail house—the Emporium—was striving to acquire possession of the First Congregational Church property in order to open a large department store in this city. The rumor has never been positively denied or affirmed and it is still in that condition.

ALLEGES SWINDLE

Charles F. Lodge.

Photographer Asserts That He Is Bunkoed.

Upon perusing a small ad in a local paper several days ago, Charles F. Lodge, residing at 330 Castro street, had visions of wealth and splendor, so great were the promises set forth in the gilt-edged personal, signed by one George H. Adams. Lodge was formerly a carpenter in the employ of S. Norman, a local contractor, but he gave up his position to follow his search of wealth and influence through the charmed advertisement.

Adams represented himself as being a San Francisco photographer, who had lost all his paraphernalia in the calamity of April last. He had placed a small advertisement in a local paper seeking someone with a bank account, who would aid him in re-establishing himself. Adams had obtained a place for his new business at 1643 Park street, Alameda, and this, together with his keen wits, were his only assets.

Lodge read Adams' ad. and immediately agreed to put up $400. Adams took the money and the new venture was launched in a small way, Adams asserting that he would have to wait a short time for supplies to arrive from the East.

After the first week, in which time Adams had received numerous orders for pictures, Lodge was paid his first week's salary, $35. Things went gliding along in the smoothest of manner and Lodge was congratulating himself upon becoming a partner in the new enterprise. It having been agreed, when he deposited his $400 that he would be rated as having a half interest in everything, besides a salary of $35 a week.

About a week ago Adams failed to appear at the gallery, leaving a note saying that he was suddenly called to San Francisco. Investigation at his lodging-house divulged the fact that he had left with all his effects. The police of this city and Alameda have been notified of the swindle and are on Adams' trail.

SIX PEOPLE HELD UP BY TWO THUGS

Road-House Resorts
Scene of a Crime;
$500 Is Obtained.

Sheriff Frank Barnett is on the trail of the burglars who held up the road-house resort of Charley Harrison on the San Leandro road last night, and before twenty-four hours have elapsed from the time of the robbery, the men are likely to be boarders of Pete White in the county jail. The Sheriff and his deputies are out on the trail today and have clues that are quite positive to apprehend the highwaymen.

Harrison and five neighbors were sitting in one of the rooms of his resort, known as the High Street House, in the suburbs of Fruitvale, when the door was suddenly opened and three partially masked men stood in the doorway with revolvers pointed at the six people gathered about the table. Harrison thought it a joke and tried to jolly the men, but they were persistent in their search for coin and valuables.

The men took possession of the place and their guard commanded the party to hold their hands above their heads while the ransacking of the house was going on. Nobody moved while the search was being conducted. The cash register was the first thing to attract their attention, and about $75 was relieved from that direction. Several dollars' worth of nickels were purloined from the slot-machines on the bar.

MENACED BY DEATH.

The victims were lined up along the wall while a bold man with a gun went through their pockets. Harrison was a rich haul, for he had $250 in his hip pocket, which he had collected during the day, and the wallet was quickly shoved into the highwayman's coat.

William Garlick, of Fruitvale, was the loser of $43 and a gold watch and chain. A gold timepiece with a chain and $30 were taken from J. H. Marshall. John Howard, Mark Lorenzo and Anna Thomas were victims for an additional $100. In a search for more coin and valuable papers, the robbers went through the proprietor's desk and scattered the papers about the floor.

After being satisfied that they had secured all the money and valuables that could be converted into coin, the three desperadoes began their retreat. They pulled down the blinds in the front of the bar-room, so that their actions could not be detected from the road, and backed out the door. Their revolvers did not move from the arm rest on the furniture of the road-house, for no chance was risked for a sudden turn of events. They threatened to shoot from the outside if any attempt was made to apprehend them before an escape was executed.

POLICE NOTIFIED.

It was not until ten minutes afterward that the move was dared by the hold-up victims to notify the authorities. After thoroughly satisfying themselves that there was no danger in calling aid, Harrison stepped to the telephone and called Sheriff Barnett, who responded with Deputy Sheriff

CRIME COMMITTED IN EMERYVILLE

One of the most remarkable bunko stories ever told in this State was related to Chief of Police Wilson yesterday when Benjamin Masciana told the chief how he had been robbed out of $2400 in an Emeryville saloon conducted by L. Delucca.

Chief Wilson told the complainant that the case was not within his jurisdiction, as the crime was committed in the town of Emeryville, which is outside the city limits. Chief Wilson, however, heard the entire story and told the complainant to call on the county officers and have the bunko men arrested. As a result L. Delucca is now in the county jail, charged with a felony.

READS LIKE A NOVEL.

Masciana's story reads like a yellow back dime novel. A few days ago he was walking along Market street in San Francisco when he was approached by a stranger who induced him to go to Emeryville to see the sights. Masciana, who is a miner from Nevada, accompanied the man and was led to the saloon of L. Delucca in Emeryville.

SHAKE THE DICE.

While in the saloon he was introduced to a third man, who it turned-out afterwards proved to be a bunko steerer. The men got to shaking the dice, the Nevada miner betting that he could tell how much the top and bottom of three dice would count in one shake.

Of course the figures, if the dice were true would be 21 in every shake. Masciana was allowed to win a few dollars, when Riley. They obtained what clues could be had and commenced the search, which was dropped at a late hour, but resumed this morning. Sheriff Barnett did not state just what evidence he had to locate the guilty parties, but from the office it was stated that the facts are quite plain in some directions that laid the deed to the door of suspicious characters.

finally the two bunko men induced him to bet $1000.

When the cash was put up the three dice were taken, Masciana declaring that they would come 21.

ARE BOGUS DICE.

When the throw was made, however, the figures counted 22, a bogus dice having been run in on the tenderfoot from Nevada. Masciana and the man, who met on Market street in San Francisco went away together and they decided between them that they would get even on the third bunko man who said he was a horse dealer from Missouri who had been sent out here by the government to buy mules for the army.

BACK FOR MORE.

The next day Masciana and his alleged friend returned to the Emeryville saloon for the purpose of getting satisfaction for the money Masciana had lost. After considerable dickering they decided that they would shake four dice and that Masciana would bet $1500 that he could tell how much the four dice would total up, if counted on top and bottom.

If the dice were straight the number ought to be 28. Both sides put up $1500 and the dice were thrown.

To the great surprise of Masciana the dice totaled 29, so in two days the tenderfoot from Nevada had lost $2400 in gold coin.

THREATENS ARREST.

He commenced to complain that he had been bunkoed and when the man who won the money, shouted, "You see, I have beat you both at your own game and I am going to have you arrested for felony."

Masciana's bunko friend said, "Let's run or we will be arrested." So the Nevada miner and his false friend rushed out of the saloon, ran down the street and got out of town.

STILL HE COMES.

Now comes the remarkable part of this great bunko story. Two days after Masciana had been lured out of his $2400 he was again met by another stranger on Market street, who asked him to go to Emeryville to see some fine Arabian horses.

As Masciana was a great lover of horses, he accepted the invitation and again went to Emeryville. When they got off the Key Route at San Pablo avenue they were met by a third man who was questioned as to the location of the Arabian steeds.

MATCH COINS.

The three men got into a conversation, during which the horses were forgotten, and they finally retired to a saloon where Masciana was induced to play heads and tails with the two strangers.

It was the old matching game that was introduced, that is the odd man always won. After several small bets had been made which Masciana won, the Nevada tenderfoot was induced to put up a certificate of deposit of $400, besides $50 in cash for one bet on the head and tail proposition.

It was understood by Masciana that his partner was to hold his coin up heads and they would try and bunko the third man.

FIX THE COINS.

The two bunko men being in on the game, they had no trouble in fixing their coins so that Masciana would not be the odd man, and as a result he lost his money.

This was the second time in two days that he had been lured by the same kind of a game.

Realizing that he had been robbed, Masciana rushed out on the sidewalk, and started for a policeman. Emeryville is not possessed of many police officers, and he could not make himself heard. He then rushed back into the saloon, started a fierce row with the bunko men, declared that he was going to have them both arrested and would fight them to a finish.

The man who held the certificate of deposit and the cash said, "Well in order not to have any trouble, I will give you back your stuff." Masciana recovered his certificate of deposit of $400 and the $50 in cash. It was then that he went to Chief Wilson and told him the story of the robbery.

As a result of his disclosure to the chief, L. Delucca, the well-known Emeryville saloon man is now in the county jail and will have to answer a serious charge.

The police are searching for the two missing bunko men.

MURDER OR SUICIDE? POLICE ASK

Theory Is Advanced
That Jas. Shanley
Met With Accident.

Floating in the waters of Lake Merritt, off the foot of East Eighteenth street, the remains of James Shanley, whose home is on Seventh street, between Filbert and Linden streets, were found about 2 o'clock this morning by Edward Morrill of 127 Athol avenue and J. W. Gentry of 1412 Seventeenth avenue.

How Shanley came to his death is enfolded in mystery, but it is thought that he fell into the lake by accident and was drowned.

The remains were taken to the Morgue, where they were examined by Frank Lambert, coroner of the local paper. Shanley was about 35 years of age, but little is known about his relatives.

BODY IS FOUND.

As Edward Morrill was passing along the boulevard this morning, he noticed a body floating in the water off the foot of East Eighteenth street. He dragged the remains onto the mud and notified the Morgue. Gentry passed along about the same time and also reported his discovery to the coroner.

Three theories are advanced in a solution of the mystery, murder, suicide or accidental drowning. There are no marks upon the body which would denote that Shanley had met with violence at the hands of thugs.

The suicide theory is strengthened by the fact that a schoolboy, named Phillips, residing near the lake, saw Shanley wandering along the edge of the lake last night, in an apparently aimless manner, evidently contemplating ending his life.

The accidental theory seems to be more than probable, as when the body was found, Shanley was still holding a package of shirts under his arm.

The package contained two white shirts and it was grimly held by the arm of the dead man.

CLUBMAN SUED FOR A DIVORCE; CRUELTY CHARGED

Paul T. Carroll, wealthy merchant and popular clubman, is coming into the limelight of the divorce courts, his wife, Berta T. Carroll this morning having begun suit for a separation. It is generally understood that the complaint which is not made public, alleges cruelty, for it has been stated that the domestic life of the Carrolls has not been happy and peaceful.

LEACH IS A CANDIDATE.

Abe P. Leach, prosecuting attorney of the police court, announces that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for city attorney. He proposes to make the fight against John McElroy, the present incumbent. Two years ago Mr. Leach ran against McElroy and was defeated. The contest this year promises to be an interesting and well contested one, as both sides have many advocates.

COUNCILMEN AGAIN FAIL TO GRANT A FRANCHISE

Applications of Three Railways Considered Once More, but No Conclusion Is Reached by City Fathers.

Another consideration was given the applications of the Western Pacific Railway, the Santa Fe Railway and the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose Railway for franchises to construct and operate a line on Wood street in West Oakland by the Committee of the Whole of the City Council last night, and a second time no conclusion was reached in regard to the matter. For four hours the members of the Council listened to discussion and argued among themselves but as to who should get the franchise could not be decided.

Agreements were obtained from the representatives of the three applicants to a proposition to insert in their franchises should they be granted a clause providing that cars or other companies might be switched over the line. This would make the road in a large measure a belt line.

The committee recommended that the Board of Works obtain a map of the territory in question, showing street crossings and proposed streets, which are to be opened. This resolution caused considerable discussion. The measure was introduced by Councilman Thurston, who stated that he desired to know the lay of the land in the disputed section that he might protect the interests of the people of Oakland. Attorney Snook representing the Western Pacific objected to the resolution asserting that it would delay matters for many months and he desired to have the application passed upon immediately.

Shortly before twelve o'clock Councilman Meese moved that the entire matter be postponed for further hearing until the next meeting of the committee of the whole, which will be in session Monday evening. The motion was unanimously passed. The other applications of the Western Pacific for franchises along the southern portion of Oakland were also continued for consideration until next Monday evening. The Samuel Merritt Hospital Association, which owns property along the proposed line has entered a protest against the line. The protest will be heard when the application is under consideration.

BURNS AS CHAIRMAN.

When the meeting was called to order last night, Councilman Burns was chosen chairman pro tem. The clerk then read an opinion from City Attorney McElroy relative to the legal phases of the Wood street applications, which were referred to him some time ago. Oakland, Cal., January 14, 1907.

The Council of the City of Oakland, Sitting as a Committee of the whole.

You have referred to me for purpose of decision as to the legal propositions involved in the applications of the Western Pacific Railway Company, The Alameda, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company, and the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose Railway Company for franchises to construct and operate a line on Wood street in West Oakland, and to pass with steam railroads along upon and across or elevated above or placed below any street or streets within that portion of the city and county of Alameda, California, which is designated as the "free zone" in the charter of the city, and to grant to such companies or corporations without discrimination between them the right to construct and maintain freight and passenger cars, engine houses, work shops, wharves, docks, slips, landing places, and other terminal facilities, provided that no franchise for right of way exceeding fifty (50) feet in width and no franchise for terminal facilities upon land exceeding one thousand (1000) feet of frontage on the water front shall be granted to any one company or corporation, or to any companies or corporations, under one management or control.

The applications are for franchises within that territory described in Section Twenty-two of the Charter of the City of Oakland, concerning which territory there is contained in Section Twenty-two of the Charter, the following language:

It shall be the duty of the council and the council is hereby required to grant to any railroad company or corporation applying therefor, a franchise to lay and maintain tracks along any line selected by the applicant and to pass with steam railroads along upon and across or elevated above or placed below any street or streets within that portion of the city and county of Alameda, California, which is designated as the "free zone" in the charter of the city, and to grant to such companies or corporations without discrimination between them the right to construct and maintain freight and passenger cars, engine houses, work shops, wharves, docks, slips, landing places, and other terminal facilities, provided that no franchise for right of way exceeding fifty (50) feet in width and no franchise for terminal facilities upon land exceeding one thousand (1000) feet of frontage on the water front shall be granted to any one company or corporation, or to any companies or corporations, under one management or control.

In the absence of the charter provisions above noted, the Council would in its discretion have the right to grant or refuse an application for a franchise to lay and maintain tracks along any line selected by the applicant and to pass with steam railroads along upon and across or elevated above or placed below any street or streets within that portion of the city and county of Alameda, California, which is designated as the "free zone" in the charter of the city, and to grant to such companies or corporations without discrimination between them the right to construct and maintain freight and passenger cars, engine houses, work shops, wharves, docks, slips, landing places, and other terminal facilities, provided that no franchise for right of way exceeding fifty (50) feet in width and no franchise for terminal facilities upon land exceeding one thousand (1000) feet of frontage on the water front shall be granted to any one company or corporation, or to any companies or corporations, under one management or control.

A strict construction of section twenty-two would make it mandatory upon the Council to grant to the applicant a franchise to lay and maintain tracks along any line selected by the applicant and to pass with steam railroads along upon and across or elevated above or placed below any street or streets within that portion of the city and county of Alameda, California, which is designated as the "free zone" in the charter of the city, and to grant to such companies or corporations without discrimination between them the right to construct and maintain freight and passenger cars, engine houses, work shops, wharves, docks, slips, landing places, and other terminal facilities, provided that no franchise for right of way exceeding fifty (50) feet in width and no franchise for terminal facilities upon land exceeding one thousand (1000) feet of frontage on the water front shall be granted to any one company or corporation, or to any companies or corporations, under one management or control.

Councilman Burns then moved that he recommended that the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose Railway be granted permission to construct and operate the road, but the motion did not come to a vote. Councilman Thurston interrupting his resolution asking that a map of the disputed territory be obtained.

This resolution was finally recommended and the map will be drawn by Councilman Meese then moved that all the matters be postponed until next Monday evening.

PLUMS GIVEN TO ALMEDANS

Senators and Assemblymen Get Choice Places in Upper and Lower Houses.

SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15.—In the apportionment of the committees of both the Assembly and the Senate, appreciation has apparently shown for the varied talents of the members, the avocations in which they are engaged and the interests of the several sections of the State which are to be advanced. There has been very little dissatisfaction expressed over the apportionments, and, as a consequence, the members may now be expected to get down to work with a will.

ALAMEDA COUNTY'S MEN.

The satisfaction which is generally expressed over the assignments is universal among the members of the delegation from Alameda county.

Nearly all of the ten legislators from that section who are in attendance upon the session have been given places on nearly all or many of the committees to which they asked to be assigned and some of them were gratified to be given chairmanships instead of merely membership on favor or organizations. Every one of the chairmanships proffered in the correspondence have been bestowed upon the men whose names were mentioned in connection with them in these columns.

SPEAKER'S PREFACE.

It was apparent in the Assembly that Speaker Beardslee approached the task of announcing his committees with confidence, and sought to soothe the feelings of those who might not have been preferred, as they thought, according to their desires.

"I have," he said, "tried to do the best I knew how. I have tried to give each man what he asked for, but of course you know that it would be impossible to do that. I tried to give chairmanships to all the old members as also as many chairmanships as possible to new members, in so far as that could be done with the number of chairmanships at my command. There are a few old members that have been overlooked although one of them, the representative of the Seventy-first district told me that he did not care for any chairmanship. I hope that everybody will be satisfied and that the work of the committees will be carried forward actively and energetically."

STANTON'S CASE.

The representative of the Seventy-first Assembly district above referred to is Assemblyman Stanton of Los Angeles who, at the last session of the legislature, was chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. He was a supporter of the National League of Republican Clubs in the last campaign and it was said of him that, for that reason, he would lose his chairmanship of last year and that Estudillo of Riverside would supplant him. That prophecy in this correspondence was verified by Stanton's appointment as chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means. Stanton, however, declared that he had asked for no position at the hands of the speaker of the Assembly.

LUKENS REMEMBERED.

Although Senator Lukens of Oakland is on the other side of the globe at this time, after injuries sustained in an automobile accident some time ago, he was not forgotten in the appointments by President Porter of the Senate. He was appointed to six committees, the same number as in the last session and all of an important character. He was given again the chairmanship of the Judiciary Committee. He was not expected to return home before February 20 and he may not reach here until this morning. His work upon that committee will have to be performed by Senator Wolfe of San Francisco, who is vice-chairman of the committee.

The committees and chairmanships to which the Alameda lawmakers have been assigned are as follows:

SENATORS.

Bates—Banking, Commerce and Navigation, Fish and Game, Insurance and Insurance Laws, Manufactures and Oil Industry, Printing, Revenue and Taxation. Leavitt—Election and Election Laws, Finance and Insurance, Insurance Laws (chairman), Municipal Corporations, Public Morals, Rules. Lukens—Commerce and Navigation, Corporations, Forestry and Water Preservation, Judiciary (chairman), Labor, Criminal and Immigration, Municipal Corporations. Mattos—County Government, Education, Fruit and Vine Interests, Judiciary, Military Affairs, Public Buildings and Grounds, Roads and Highways (chairman).

ASSEMBLYMEN.

Burke—Constitutional Amendments (chairman), Counties and County Boundary, Retrenchment and Reform, Revision and Reform of Laws, Ventilation and Acoustics, Ways and Means. Eshelman—Constitutional Amendments, Labor and Immigration, Education, Revision and Reform of Laws, Universities. Hans—Egrogement and Enrollment (chairman), Insurance and Insurance Laws, Public Health and Quarantine, Public Morals, State Library. OTIS—Buildings and Water (chairman), Public Works, State Capitol and Parks, Revenue and Taxation, Universities. STETSON—Contested Elections, Judiciary, Election Laws (chairman), Egrogement and Enrollment, Insurance and Insurance Laws. Storke—Agriculture (chairman), Manufactures and Internal Improvements, County and Township Government, Education, Fruit and Vine Interests, State Hospitals and Asylums, Walsh—Corporations and Township Government, Public Morals, Revenue and Taxation, Rules and Regulations.

The number of committees to which each Alameda county legislator has been assigned is as follows:

Assembly—Eshelman 5, Hans 5, Storke 6, Walsh 6, Senators—Leavitt 6, Lukens 6, Bates 7, Mattos 7.

Willie's Address Upon the Park Bonds

Fellow Citizens and Those Who Live With You:

If there was ever a time in my life when I felt proud of the fact that I live in Oakland that time is right now. Yesterday Oakland took the longest step toward reaching the goal of Greater Oakland than she has done in fifty years. And I tell you that she has but just started. Park bonds mean other issues, and when we get all that is needed to make Oakland inviting then we can invite the world at large to come to Oakland. So I throw up my hat and will let out a yell that my boss can hear clear back in New York, 'cause he will now see in the near future what he has sit up nights and worried about—that hole in the ground down by the Twelfth street obstruction (from there to Eighth street) turned into a beautiful park. More Parks will call for more clothes, 'cause everybody will want to be better dressed—they will be out doors more and that means more Hats and Shoes.

BILL TO PROTECT INSURED PEOPLE

Standard Form of Policy in Leavitt's Bill With Penalty Attached.

(Special to THE TRIBUNE.)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15.—One of the most important of the bills which have thus far been introduced into the Legislature is that which Senator Leavitt, of Oakland has placed before the Senate, which provides for a standard form of policy to be used by the insurance companies doing business in this State.

STANDARD FORM.

A copy of the form is attached to the bill and shows at a glance how the conditions are divided into paragraphs with appropriate headings so that any person who is able to read will be able at once to know where to look in order to find out what most concerns him in the document.

MUST BE IN LINE PRIMER.

The second section of the bill requires that the policy shall be plainly printed, and that no portion of it shall be in type smaller than long primer, and the printed parts shall be in black except in a part to which reference will be made later. All fire insurance policies on property in this State must be on this standard form and no part of the form shall be omitted from it. The company may add to the form any matter relating to its financial condition, directors, officers, stockholders and history and the address of its home office and principal office in the United States.

FILLING BLANKS.

The necessary blanks in the form may be written in, but no other matter will be allowed on it unless the same be stamped on or added to it in red ink and in type not smaller than pica, but larger than the type used in the printing of the other part of the form.

In case of any variations from the standard form, other than have been referred to, there shall be printed in red ink in large, bold-faced type, on the top of the policy, the words "This policy varies from the California Standard Form. The variations are indicated by the matter in red ink."

POLICY VOID.

Any policy varying from the standard form, except in the manner provided, shall be void as regards the variations and the variations shall be disregarded in the interpretation of the policy. The last clause reads as follows:

PENALTY.

"Any insurer, or the agent counterfeiting or issuing a fire insurance policy covering in whole or in part property in California, varying from the California standard form of policy, except in the manner and form hereinbefore provided, shall forfeit unto the State of California the sum of $500 for each such policy issued."

Twenty-Year Battle.

"I was a lower in a twenty-year battle with chronic piles and malignant sores, until I tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which turned the tide by curing both, till not a trace remains."—Dr. J. M. Bruce, of Farmville, Va. Best for old Ulcers, Burns and Wounds. Sold at Osgood Bros., Druggists, Broadway, corner of Seventh street, and Washington street, corner of Twelfth.

WOMAN SWALLOWS CARBOLIC ACID, MISTAKING DEADLY FLUID FOR WATER

Mrs. Mary Sullivan, who, through misplacing the contents of an ounce and a half bottle of carboic acid in a glass, and then using the tumbler of poison in mistake for water, nearly took her own life last night. She made the 165th case of poisoning of the stomach that Steward Harry Borchert has had at the receiving hospital during the last eight years. The remarkable feature is that of all those cases not a single death resulted.

Mrs. Mary Sullivan
ended her life by taking poison which she mistook for water.

Through misplacing the contents of an ounce and a half bottle of carboic acid in a glass and then using the tumbler and its deadly fluid in mistake for water, Mrs. Mary Sullivan nearly took her life last night in the Alta Vista lodging house at Broadway and Seventh streets last night about 3 o'clock.

It was at first supposed that the woman had swallowed the drug with a suicidal intent, but this morning at the Receiving Hospital she told her story to Steward Harry Borchert.

STORY TOLD BY WOMAN.

"I wanted to use the bottle," said the sick woman to the hospital attendants this morning, "so emptied the contents into a water tumbler. This was early in the evening, before my husband and I went out. When I returned I wanted a drink of water and took up the glass containing the carboic acid to use in procuring the drink."

"The light in the room was not very bright, and I did not notice the liquid in the bottom of the glass, having forgotten that I put it there in my hurry before going out early in the evening. I turned on the faucet and poured out what I needed to drink and placed it to my lips. Not realizing the contents of the glass, I drank it in a single swallow. That was the last I remembered until awakened this morning here in the hospital."

DENIES ATTEMPT ON LIFE.
Mrs. Sullivan and her husband, Col. Jack Sullivan, president of the stevedores' union in the city, took up their apartments in the Broadway house three days ago, and, although the landlady hinted that there was trouble in the Sullivan apartments, the fact of attempting suicide is stoutly refuted in the statement made this morning.

As quickly as the woman was found in the room by her husband, an automobile was summoned and she was removed to the Receiving Hospital. It was a miracle that life was restored to the unconscious form, for when she was placed on the operating table the physicians gave her up for lost. Steward Borchert immediately set to work applying antidotes to the prostrate woman, and when Dr. Irwin arrived shortly after the two used every resource to promote life.

There was no pulse movement and the glassy stare had already come over the victim's eyes. When a fly walked over the optic there was no movement, the sense of touch having left the orb. Those who were at the side of Mrs. Sullivan gave no hope, but finally the life's blood began to circulate and it was not a great while before the woman was beyond danger.

This is the one hundredth and sixty-fifth case of poisoning of the stomach that Steward Harry Borchert has had in the Receiving Hospital during the last eight years, and he has not lost a single case.

YOUNG MAN CONFESSES TO ENTERING STORE TWICE

His second successful burglary at the store of the Weisbach Company at Thirty-ninth street and San Pablo avenue, resulted in the arrest and confession of John Martindale, a young man twenty-nine years of age. Martindale is now in the city prison, booked on a charge of burglary.

For several weeks Martindale was employed by the Weisbach Company as a collector. While there he obtained possession of a pass key, with which he entered the place about a week ago, bent on burglary. At that time he stole a woman's wheel, about $20 in coin, which he obtained from the cash register, and $15 worth of two-cent stamps.

Last Saturday night Martindale entered the store a second time and stole a typewriter and a quantity of other office supplies. His employers became suspicious of him and Detectives McSorley and Flynn watched his actions. The young man was placed under arrest on suspicion last night and this morning he confessed all to the police.

Martindale says that he arrived in Oakland from Tennessee about six months ago. He was discharged from the United States navy for incompetency. He obtained employment in this city and for a time was an inmate of the county infirmary, suffering from a broken arm.

He looks as far away into the dim mysterious future—the great beyond—across the dark chasm which separates the human body from the fitting soul—and that which is to be is told, and figures, his brought together, form are made friends, lost property is recovered, the mist is brushed away from business ventures, the hand is so guided that fortunes are averted, the earth's surface is explored, its treasures laid bare to his mysteriously perceptive mind, and while he gives names, dates, facts and figures, his visitors sit dumbfounded at the revelations he makes to them. He is surely a man of the passing time.

PIANOLAS AND PIANOLA--PIANOS

DON'T forget this important fact—that there is only one PIANOLA and that one is made by the largest musical instrument manufacturing company in the world, namely the Aeolian Company, of New York.

It has a capital of ten million and controls nearly a score of factories turning out a finished product as faultless and perfect as the world's most skillful artisans can achieve. When the Company gave to the musical world the PIANOLA it was supposed man's ingenuity could go no farther; but first the Metro-style, and now the Thermodist have been added, making the PIANOLA almost human in its interpretation of the works of the great masters.

Again, don't forget that there is only one PIANOLA recognized the world over as a genuine player, above and beyond all imitations; and don't forget that the sole agents here are

$50 to $150 To You for Going Six Blocks

Our large and commodious wholesale quarters are crowded to the doors with new and slightly used and old pianos, shipped from our agents and small San Francisco stores. They were all taken in exchange on the wonderful marvel of the age, the piano with the player in its case, which can be played by hand or pneumatically.

Prior to the opening of our new building in the burned district we opened two small stores, one at 1341 Golden Gate avenue, near Fillmore street, and one at 1466 Bush street, near Van Ness avenue, having no room except for our new regular samples, all exchanges are being shipped to our Oakland wholesale rooms. These are the largest in Oakland, not having been able to secure suitable location, we offer everything to you at the same price we charge to our retail dealers.

If you will take the trouble to go six blocks you can see for yourself the exceptional opportunities that are offered.

We are paying no retail rent and charge you no retail profit.

We suppose you know that the Heine Piano Co. is the only piano house doing business direct from their own factory in the East. This gives you advantage of from $75.00 to $150.00 on each piano as compared with other regular retail prices.

The following list will give you an idea of the low prices that we are making on pianos taken in exchange at the Player Piano, the piano of the future:

One Steinway	$120
One Schiller—One Sohmer	$85.00

CANDIDATES CAN WIN BY DETERMINED EFFORT ONLY

Competition for Tribune Prizes Is Keen and Those at the Top Must Look to Their Laurels.

Candidates! Glance over the lists in tonight's paper and see just where you stand.

Are you at the top? If you are, the chances are ten to one that you are in earnest and want to win the prize, which, with the opportunity given you, can be gotten with a determined effort on your part.

If you are near the top and are giving the leaders a good run for first place, you stand the same chance of winning as they, and you would get to the top quicker if your opponent did not work as hard as he or she does. But if you are at the last and do not get any higher, that proves that your interest in the campaign is not as keen as your competitors', and proves that you must get down to hard, industrious work right away to be anywhere near the prize.

And still you have the same chance to win if you get out among your friends and make a good, active, energetic canvass, secure all their subscriptions as well as those of their friends.

The greatest trouble with most of the candidates is that they do not have enough SELF-CONFIDENCE, and naturally when they see a contest with a few more voters and subscribers, they pass it up to them and say, "Well, I can't win because she has 2000 votes more than I."

The above was said by one of the candidates in the contest, but she has evidently changed her mind, as she has since been at the top several times and now has only one or two contestants ahead of her.

YOU CAN WIN.

Make up your mind that you can win and then start out. The result will be amazing.

Inquiries are reaching the office every day in regard to the chances of such and such a candidate, and they say they are willing to help her win, providing she has a chance.

No information in any way, shape or form under any circumstances will be given by the contest manager regarding the standings of any of the contestants, in fairness to all concerned.

HARD TO DISPLACE.

Miss Laura McCutcheon still holds forth in the young ladies' contest in Oakland and is getting votes and subscriptions galore. She will be a hard one to displace.

Miss Laura Jorgensen has things coming her way as votes count, and she has made some nice gains lately.

Miss Florence Watkins of Berkeley is nearing the 1000 mark, and Miss Summers, Miss Kern and Miss Gallagher are fast heading that way.

Miss Ruby Schless of Alameda made a good showing for the over-Sunday voting.

Miss Barbin has also done some nice work, and several of her friends are daily turning in votes for her.

STILL WORKING HARD.

Joe Rebell, George French and M. Bischoff of the union men are still working hard and expect to poll a large vote soon.

Fred Wile still holds first place with the letter carriers.

John Z. Barnett and J. F. Kenney intend making a home run soon, as each is working silently, but in earnest.

William Iron of Berkeley thinks the revolver for the policemen in that district worth working for and intends making a great play for it.

George Brown of Alameda is another who has an eye on the fine pistol offered the Alameda boys and will work hard to get it.

POPULAR WOMEN.

Mrs. C. W. Broderick of the Oakland women is making a fine canvass for votes, as are also Mrs. Galom and Mrs. S. Leland.

John Wallace, P. A. Carlson and Jack Fitzsimmons are fighting hard to take first place from "Pop" Ingersoll.

W. M. Heusted, S. H. Swenson and Charles Dixon, the popular motormen, are making decided efforts to gain first place from George M. Smith.

TEACHERS STRIVING.

Miss T. C. Lison, one of the popular teachers, intends winning the first prize, the trip to Honolulu, as she is making an active campaign among her many friends.

Miss Lulu Goldman is steadily making gains and climbing to the top.

MANNER OF VOTING.

A coupon good for one vote will be published in each issue of The Tribune until the end of the contest. This coupon, if clipped and sent to the Contest Office of THE TRIBUNE, will count as one vote for the contestant named therein.

There is also another way of securing votes and that is on subscriptions. Votes will be given on all paid-in-advance subscriptions as follows:

One month 35 extra votes

Three months 100 extra votes

Six months 300 extra votes

One year, $7.50 1000 extra votes

Professional Ethics of Silence.

There is evidently a line which, when passed, transforms the professional ethics, which imposes silence on confidential communications into a species of criminality and makes the one who strictly observes the Hippocratic dictum as an accessory before or after the fact. The ethics of the medical profession which binds the physician not to divulge any of the confidences of his patients when such are learned through his professional relations with them, is now a subject of discussion in England. The discussion has been started by the statement of a special case. A patient who is a railway signalman is found to be subject to attacks of asthma, which seize him suddenly and are liable to throw him to the floor and wholly incapacitate him for an hour or more. The physician advised him to inform his employers, but he refused, on the ground that he would be discharged. The question arises whether the doctor should violate professional ethics and disclose the secret of his patient to the company or remain silent and let the consequences of his silence take care of themselves. To this, the British Medical Journal answers as follows:

"In our opinion, the circumstances, extreme though they be, cannot be held to justify a breach of the law of professional secrecy. While the medical man should reprehend the criminal neglect of the patient if he does not explain his position to his employers, the former ought not to write direct to the railway company without the patient's consent, he fully understanding the nature of the communication to be made."

This statement of the demands of professional ethics, so far as they relate to medicine, comes from one of the highest medical authorities. It shows, however, in a striking manner how the strict observance of these ethical demands may put the public welfare in peril and place the responsibility for any catastrophe which might follow on the wrong shoulders. Suppose, for example, this signalman should, while on his watch, be suddenly stricken with one of his asthmatical attacks which should incapacitate him from the performance of his duty, and the wrecking of a passenger train should ensue, human lives be lost and many persons injured, in addition to the destruction of valuable property, who would be held accountable for it? Would it be the company, which was ignorant of its employee's physical infirmity, or the employee himself who concealed his infirmity from his employers to save his job, or the physician who had acquired a knowledge professionally of the signalman's ailment, but who, out of respect to his Hippocratic oath, preserved the strictest silence, although conscious of the peril to the lives of others which such silence involved? In all fairness it does not seem under such circumstances that the corporation could be held responsible for the tragedy and the physician, who could have averted it by giving timely warning to the management of its employee's physical infirmity, or the employee himself who himself behind his Hippocratic oath. While the ethics of the profession naturally call for the respecting of confidences, there are evidently limitations where the public welfare has a reasonable right to require the veil of silence to be rent.

Governor Gillett has made a good beginning by warning the Republican leaders in the Legislature against extravagance, and recommending the lopping off of all useless commissions and unnecessary employees. He is also setting a practical example in efficiency and economy by dismissing everything savoring of mere show and settling down to hard work. He gives every evidence that the sound suggestions in his message will be the guiding principles of his administration. His manners are simple, his methods direct, and his working system earnest and practical. His sincerity and practical wisdom have already inspired the State with confidence, and we believe this confidence will be deserved and will increase as time goes on.

FAIR STATEMENT OF OAKLAND'S STATUS.

A keen but friendly rivalry for pre-eminence is developing between the cities of San Francisco and Oakland. The April visitation gave Oakland a boost such as few cities have ever received, and her people have not been slow to follow up their advantage. It is said that Oaklanders were asleep before the shakeup, but the truth is that they were always overshadowed by the greater city, and struggled along against odds. The wonder is that they did as well as they did, for it must be conceded that Oakland, albeit a trifle "slow" and countryfied, was ever bright and clean and decent, steadily resisting every temptation to be other than respectable. Though not immaculate by any means, it was never a corrupt city like San Francisco. Its best citizens took an interest in its government, and never for a moment allowed the seats of office to be captured by banded political robbers and social outcasts. The consequence is that now Opportunity knocks at Oakland's door there are capable and trustworthy hands ready to receive her and make the best use of her offering. Nobody can begrudge Oakland her good fortune, for by her past conduct she has richly deserved it.

A year ago Oakland was the seat of Alameda county; today she is a world city, twin metropolis with San Francisco of the Pacific Coast. But it does not follow that because of this unprecedented advance she is destined to outstrip and finally supersede San Francisco. The latter city will always be a great center of industry and international commerce, in our opinion, but hereafter she will share her business with Oakland. And Oakland is destined to be, in a greater degree than before, the place of homes, of culture and refinement, and the center of the better class of retail trade. There seems little prospect of San Francisco ever bettering herself politically; with every election she seems to get deeper into the mire, and this will weigh with the newcomer when making a choice of a home. Moreover, San Francisco is without residential facilities and is likely to remain so for some years to come. There are hundreds of vacant stores and offices in the reconstructed districts, but nowhere are there any houses or flats "to let." In their eagerness to make money fast, San Francisco capitalists have committed the error of "putting the cart before the horse." Hundreds of newcomers arriving weekly are compelled to seek homes in the bay towns—another factor in Oakland's upbuilding. Old San Franciscans will get back when they can; there is a charm about the commanding city on the hills which few who have once been under its spell can resist—the charm of romantic situation, of storied history, and perhaps more particularly of long association. San Franciscans love their city, with all its faults, and are not to be weaned away from it by fairer scenes or kindlier treatment. But with the newcomer there are no such sentimental considerations—and the hope of this community, as of every progressive community, lies in its new blood.—The British California

A Victory for Progress.

The citizens of Oakland have demonstrated in a signal and practical manner that the spirit of progress dominates the community and is spurring public sentiment to greater and more substantial achievements. No better proof that the people of this city are awake to their opportunities and the needs of the hour than the success of the park bond election. The vote of nearly five to one in favor of the bonds shows the unanimity of public opinion in regard to public improvements. While only about fifteen per cent of the registered vote was cast, the result is so clearly indicative of the prevailing sentiment as to be a matter for public rejoicing. It shows that the people of Oakland are in accord, and are imbued with the progressive spirit of the age.

The smallness of the vote is largely attributable to the fact that the election was held on one of the stormiest and most disagreeable days of an unusually stormy and disagreeable winter, but still more largely to the fact that public sentiment was so unanimous that the success of the bonds was regarded as a foregone conclusion. Had serious doubts been entertained of the bonds carrying the vote would have been two or three times as large as it was. The general assent of the community to the park proposition caused thousands in favor of it to deem it unnecessary to go to the polls.

From every point of view the result is gratifying. It insures park improvements that will give Oakland a more beautiful and majestic appearance, and will stimulate private improvement on a large scale. To Mayor Mott and the City Council great credit is due, but a still larger credit is due the citizens of Oakland who have at last broken the bonds of conservatism and village tradition.

As to Anonymous Communications.

We are in receipt of numerous communications criticizing somebody or something or other which the writers desire to have printed anonymously. Frequently the writers send in their names with the communications, but with the request that they be not published. Others do not take the trouble to tell the editor who they are, but expect THE TRIBUNE to print—as a matter of course—their anonymous attacks on public officials or others coming in daily contact with the public. On this account we find it necessary to state once more THE TRIBUNE'S position relative to communications. Our columns are open to any citizen who desires to discuss decently and temperately, and within reasonable limits, any matter of public interest, but they are not open to abusive anonymous personal attacks; neither are they at the service of people who desire to make political warfare from ambush. The value of a communication is largely in the name appended to it. What THE TRIBUNE desires are discussions by citizens over their own signatures, not anonymous growls at this thing and that. We have small sympathy with people who are afraid to come out in the open and voice their grievances, nor has the public. Perhaps a majority of the anonymous communications coming to this office are complaints against the Oakland Traction Company. Such complaints should always be signed with the writers' names and addresses in order that the officials of the corporation may have an opportunity to investigate and correct, if they are so disposed, the abuses complained of. An anonymous complaint means little because it cannot be investigated and the character of the witness cannot be ascertained. It is best to be open and above-board about such matters. Public evils are never corrected by anonymous complaints, which, in the nature of things, are not calculated to arouse public opinion or inspire much respect. While we are glad to hear from our subscribers on matters which interest the public, we must again warn them that they should sign their own proper names to what they write or at least give some convincing reason why they should be withheld.

Yesterday evening THE TRIBUNE gave another signal proof that it is Oakland's greatest newspaper and always leads in printing the news. Within half an hour after the polls closed a TRIBUNE extra was on the streets giving full returns of the park bond election—an event of great importance to Oakland. Citizens were therefore not compelled to wait till they read the morning papers to ascertain how the election went.

A Perjured Santa Claus.

"You're crazy," said Mike Dwyer, out of the deep experience of his eight and a half years. "You're crazy, I tell you, nobody gives you nothing for nothing." "But ain't I told you that he does?" his friend, Patrick Brennan, assured him. "Ain't I telling you what he give me last year? A fire engine, a prayer book and a bag of candy." "An' you ain't paid nothin' for 'em?" marveled Mike. "Not a cent."

"Ain't nobody never come 'round to collect on 'em?" "Not a one."

And then Myra Kelly, in her charming Christmas story in the January McClure's, tells how Mike Dwyer investigated the Santa Claus theory, became a believer, and how, after mishaps and amusing delusions, Santa Claus gave him something for almost "nothing."

It is a rare Christmas story—and, by the way, one of the few that appears at Christmas time in this day of beforehand journalism. Myra Kelly always does put heart into her stories and this one has in it as real a youngster as any little citizen you know. The story is ingeniously contrived, and while it has its pathos, it leaves one with a smile on his lips and the feeling of having received a personal visit from Santa.

Does Not Color Hair

Ayer's Hair Vigor, as now made from our new improved formula, does not stain or color the hair even to the slightest degree. Gray hair, white hair, blonde hair is not made a shade darker. But it certainly does stop falling hair. No question about that. This is an entirely new preparation. It is just placed on the market.

GIRL MARVEL SKATES TONIGHT
Miss Effie Pruitt Opens Week's Engagement at Lake-side Rink.

There was disappointment at Lake-side Rink last evening when a large crowd learned that Miss Effie Pruitt, the marvelous little skater, would not appear owing to train delays in the north. She reached the city this morning and will open a week's engagement tonight.

No more graceful skater ever appeared in a rink in this city and her performances this week should be seen by all who skate or who enjoy good skating. Her costumes are most beautiful and appealed specially to the ladies.

A match race of more than ordinary interest Thursday is between Kennedy and Norman Manning, champion of Sacramento, who is confident he can take the measure of the Oakland wonder.

DR. N. P. PALMQUIST HAS PASSED AWAY
Dr. N. P. Palmquist, a well known ophthalmologist, died at 1:45 o'clock last night at his home, 1253 Brush street. Dr. Palmquist was surrounded by all of his family at the time and passed away very easily. He had been ill for many weeks.

CLAIMS IVENS WAS INNOCENT

Harvard Professor of Psychology Declares Confession Was Forced.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Innocent, yet hanged for the murder of a pretty woman, as the result of a confession obtained while he was in a hypnotic state, is the startling assertion in the case of Richard Ivens, of Chicago, made in the Times Magazine by Professor Hugo Munsterberg, of Harvard University.

Professor Munsterberg's analysis of Ivens' case is that the man "confessed" the murder of Mrs. Frank G. Hollister, wife of a wealthy Chicago publisher, while under the hypothesis of a "third degree sweating" by detectives. He asserts that the man was hypnotized when a glistening revolver was thrust into his face.

Ivens found the dead body of Mrs. Hollister in a barnyard last January. He was arrested, sweated by the detectives and, later, convicted and hanged, although as Dr. Munsterberg, professor of psychology asserts, absolutely innocent of the crime.

"Now the police began to press him, and more and more impressively to suggest that his guilt," writes the professor in the Times magazine. "Suddenly he began to confess, and he was quite willing to repeat his confession again and again. Every time it became richer in detail."

"Upon this basis he was condemned to death. So the case stood when my opinion was asked. I could not help becoming convinced that all the external signs spoke against the interpretation of the case."

Further, Professor Munsterberg recites how Ivens asserted his innocence within six days of his execution, declaring that the "confession" was obtained at him. "I saw the flash of the steel in front of me," Ivens is quoted as saying.

In support of his theory, Professor Munsterberg cites several other cases of hypnosis.

EXCITING RACE AT PIEDMONT

Four Teams in Return Match on Wednesday Night—Polo Game Also.

One of the most sensational races ever witnessed in a roller skating rink in this vicinity took place last night at the Piedmont Skating Rink, when four fast teams, with the speediest skaters of both sexes about the bay, composed them, fought out one of the prettiest and gamiest struggles that have roused a throng of spectators to frenzied excitement, or exhausted almost the last breath in the racers' little young bodies.

The race was for a mile and every lap was a race in itself, with first one team and then another in the lead and each struggling desperately to leave the others in the rear. Finally Orin Armstrong and Miss Tiny Gray made a jump when near the finish and crossed the line winners by only a few feet.

Merritt Clarke and Miss Julia Sturm were second, with Frank Pennycook and Miss Williams third. Frank Pennycook and Miss Louise Jones endeavored to make a spurt in the last lap, but were interfered with by Clark and Miss Sturm, Miss Jones being thrown into the posts. She was well scurfed, however, and when she reappeared on the floor later was rousing cheered. The grand march was one of the prettiest of the season.

The same teams are to race again Wednesday night and Taylor and Miss Jones declare they will see that there is a different result. There is also to be a big championship polo match Wednesday night, so the record for excitement and keen enjoyment will doubtless be broken.

On Thursday night the long distance race, which twenty minutes of racing each night, is to begin. The fastest skaters on the coast are entered and more entries are being received at the rink daily. The price is to be cash and there doubtless will be some vigorous contests before it is awarded. The race will end on Saturday night.

Manager Eppinger received a disappointing telegram yesterday that Professor Bell's "Baby Ruby" is ill and the two cannot appear for two weeks.

"What is the extent of his mental power?" "Great. He thinks he's a wonder in many ways. In fact, all of his ability is in his head."

DRINKS ALL HE WANTS
And Drinks It Whenever He Wants It.

"I want what I want when I want it." A Michigan man, who perhaps never heard Pruitt sing the song, wrote the other day a letter to Postum Food Coffee, "I am well and hearty. I drink all the Postum Cereal Coffee I want and whenever I want it—the more I drink, the better I feel."

"I was broken down in health with acid dyspepsia, as the doctors called it; had been sick for five years and failing all the time. I would drink coffee for breakfast and then bloat up, my stomach would be so full of acid I'd belch up gas and have the water brash."

"Then would come heart burn, and a rumbling and cramp in my stomach all night would keep me awake. Then I'd go two or three days without eating, with some improvement. But as soon as I would eat something and drink coffee, I'd be as bad as ever."

"About three months ago I got so bad I thought I'd have to stop everything. I had read about coffee being harmful, so I told my wife not to make any for me for a while. I thought I'd see for myself."

"In two days I was lost without coffee—was so sick I couldn't eat anything. The reaction of coffee was so great I bought a package of Postum and my wife made it strictly according to directions. You should have seen the change. The whole family now use Postum, and I haven't sour stomach or bloating, rest well at night, and, with some improvement. But as soon as I would eat something and drink coffee, I'd be as bad as ever."

"Since I left off coffee and began to use Postum my nerves are steady, my head feels clear, I don't get stupid, tired and lary any more."

"I positively know that coffee was the cause of my trouble and I positively know that quitting it and using Postum Food Coffee has cured me." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book "The Road to Wellville," in packages. "There's a reason."

Glasses and Good Looks

Glasses make a great difference to the appearance. Fitted by a competent optician they will add expression to the face. Poorly adjusted by the incompetent man they destroy the expression and make you look old.

The old style double glass with the piece patched on collects dirt, irritates the eyes and shrieks your age.

The Kryptok (hidden eye) bifocal has no lines across it or pieces patched on, but gives clear distant and reading vision in the one lens.

have long ago shown the poor policy of indifference to dress, and custom demands only a difference in style between business and dress clothes. HEART :: TRIBUNE'S PAGE FOR WOMEN :: HOME

WORK OF A WOMAN

Perhaps no one understands—not the wife or mother herself—what a many-sided life the stay-at-home woman's is, says the Philadelphia Bulletin, and how important it is that she should be able to meet all her daily requirements. She who is a true home woman holds more positions and transacts more business than many a man during her busy day.

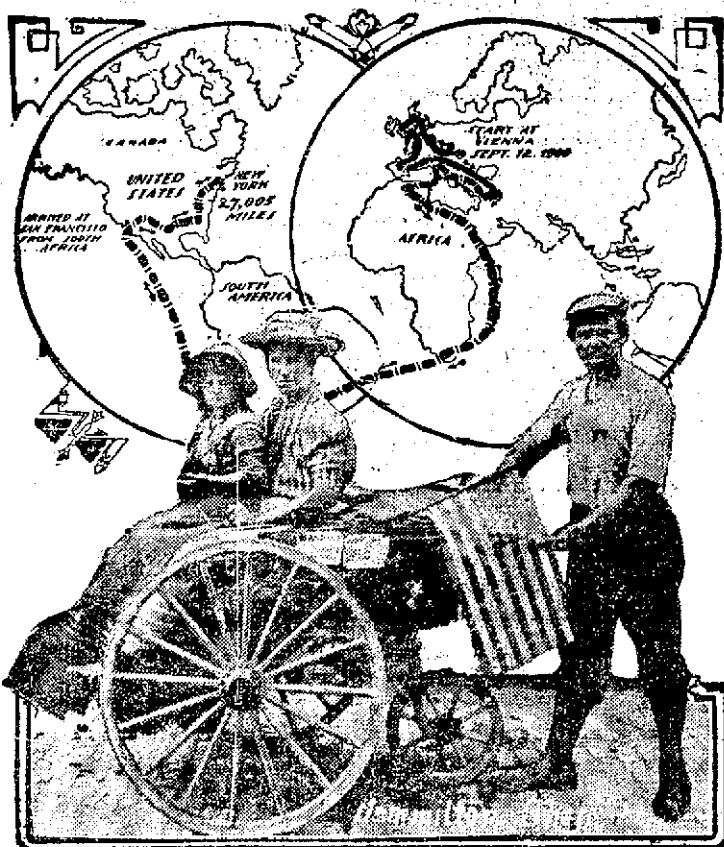

She must be a financier, and know to a cent the expenditure of her little household, or that part of the machinery will be out of gear when settling-up day arrives. She must be both a judge and jury, capable of settling all the differences in her small household, of adjusting matters, and of maintaining peace.

Often it is necessary she should be a capable designer and dressmaker, able to cut down and fit her own and her husband's old clothes for the little ones. She also has to be a preacher and schoolmistress to her young brood, teaching them manners and religion, watching the development of their young minds.

One of her greatest duties is that of queen and helpmate. She must, if success is to be hers, throw herself heart and soul into her husband's interests—share his fears, divide his responsibilities and multiply his joys.

Knowing that being a wife and mother means all this, there are yet some girls and women who sneer at and pity the ones who have chosen to do this work, which they undertook when they pledged their marriage vows, and to do it to the best of their ability.

Instead of sneering it would be wiser if each would-be bride were to seriously ask herself whether she is capable to carry out all the various positions which in course of time will probably fall to her lot.

Anton Hanslian of Vienna is now in this country with his wife and daughter. He already has walked 27,500 miles pushing his family in a cart before him, and soon will be en route to his home on the final portion of his journey. He started from Vienna in 1900 on a wager that he would cover 31,000 miles in six years. The picture shows Hanslian and his wife and daughter in the cart, and the map gives the route he has taken in his remarkable journey.

It is true nobility, worthy of the highest admiration, when a mistress of a household strives to faithfully and cheerfully discharge all the various and petty tasks which from day to day face her.

HYSTERIA OF WOMAN IS CAUSE OF CHURCH SPLIT

Cleveland Congregation Imagines the Casting Out of Demons and Miracles.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 15.—The ousting of demons and the gift of tongues have caused dissension in the Friends' Church, in Cedar avenue, and a serious split in the membership has occurred. The older members of the church cannot understand the unusual manifestations, and declare the gift of tongues is nothing more than an unintelligible babble.

A committee was appointed to make an investigation and it is probable that steps will be taken to oust the people who have been leaders in the so-called miracle production.

Meetings have been in progress now day and night for nearly a week, during which the most exciting scenes have been witnessed. Several persons have publicly announced that demons have been ousted from their bodies, one woman in particular declaring that her rheumatism of years has been cured and others have discarded glasses, saying that their eyesight is now better than ever before.

A dozen persons have claimed to receive the gift of tongues and songs of the most unusual jargon are heard with the familiar tunes of "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Almost Persuaded."

At a recent meeting one woman began to talk in Greek, another in German and still another in what she declared was a South African tongue. The preachers of this city decide the affair hysteria, and unless there is an end to it the Friends' Church is certain to be split in twain.

One dollar is the price marked on some attractive photographed frames. A sterling silver salad dish in the well-liked gray finish in a leaf design is $15.

WOMAN BEAUTIFUL

Whenever a woman begins to talk about her soul you can know that Cupid has a line on her.

CYNTHIA—Walking is the most health-giving exercise. If you have plenty of idle time, make it a habit to walk several miles a day. Choose the parks and pleasant boulevards where the charming surroundings will keep you cheerful. Have your breakfast at 8 o'clock and by 10 be ready for a good long tramp. Wear a short walking skirt and don't hamper yourself with anything to carry. Swing along with limbs unhampered and arms free. You will gain something more than health on these walks. You will become better acquainted with your city. You will have time to observe the people who pass. You will feel that you are really one of an interesting world. In the spring time when the leaves are budding, it is a genuine treat to take a long, invigorating stroll, particularly on a bright day.

QUINCY—Teeth that are soft and brittle and crumble away like chalk are in very bad condition. A dentist should be consulted at once. Get your blood in perfect condition by living hygienically, taking a bath every day and getting outdoor exercise, etc. You should eat plenty of whole wheat bread and should see to it that your diet contains the mineral elements needed to build teeth and bone. You will find it very beneficial to take a tablespoonful of lactophosphate of lime just before each meal. Avoid soft foods, exercising the teeth on hard bread. When brushing the teeth always brush away from the gums. Buttermilk is considered very wholesome. Its slightly acid nature is supposed to be of advantage to some stomachs. It should be fresh, however, and slipped very slowly.

SALLY—When shampooing the hair it is not necessary to beat the eggs. Break them into a small bowl. Apply some to the hair, allowing them to drain into the wash bowl which has previously been filled with hot water. Use the bath spray, then apply the rest of the eggs, rubbing them in with sufficient friction to cause them to foam up and distribute themselves thoroughly all through the hair. Rinse once more, and always very thoroughly.

Monogram belt buckles, gold-plated, can be had for $3.

Dainty water-color sketches prettily framed are reduced to $8.

Individual pepper and salt walls are shown to be used on the serving tray.

Faltered suits of excellent quality and finish have been reduced to $18.50.

Spangled gauze fans with a dainty lace edge and bone sticks are reduced to $1.

WOMAN SAYS ROOSEVELT 'STRAINS HIS LANGUAGE'

Mrs. Charles P. Gilman Asserts That the 'You' Race Suicide Rests in Child Labor.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman engaged in a tilt recently with President Roosevelt to convince the executive that he had not only misused the English language when he coined the "race suicide" phrase, but that the decrease of the population was something of which to be proud.

"The better the development of the person the less we run to seed," declared Mrs. Gilman. "the most fecund classes are the lowest. The decrease in the birth-rate following the increased individual value of woman is a normal biological law. Nature does not feel that the children of the brainy woman are of such poor stuff that they should not be perpetuated. But as fast as women become real people, they do not bring forth so much food for cannon, but the kind of citizen that will not use cannon. We want not more people but better people."

"When President Roosevelt talks about 'race suicide,' he strains the language. Man cannot kill what does not exist. The true race suicide is child labor."

Mrs. Gilman, who was addressing the Equal Suffrage League of New York City at the Hotel Astor, touched on Mrs. Elsie Clews Parsons' book, "The Family." She refused to discuss it, as she had not read it, and had more conscience, she said, than the ministers, who "rushed madly into print about it." She then gave her own ideas on the family. "The idea of the family is not pre-ordained, but one of slow development," she continued; "monogamy has been found the best plan, but people have as much right to opinions on that subject as any other. Besides, we did not originate monogamy. It obtains with great success among certain birds and animals. The ostrich, for instance, marries for life, and, in that, beats us out of sight. The storks also are faithful to one. I knew of a gentleman stork who brought home an extraneous lady to share his bed and board, and during his absence one day Madam Stork arose and killed the intruder. That ended the trouble in that family."

"This world has been entirely a masculine one. Take the relentless view of women toward a woman who sins. There is only one sin. They pardon her all others so long as she does not commit this one. That is the masculine attitude. Women should be rational on this as on all subjects."

The league endorsed, with qualification, a resolution passed by the Democratic Woman's Club protesting against present street-railway conditions and demanding that the city either compel the companies to live up to their charters or take over the roads. It was decided that if the resolution provided that the Eighth avenue surface line should be run on schedule time the league would back up the complaint. All the clubwomen in the city will do so.

WOMAN SLAIN, THREE ARE HURT, IN FIGHT OVER KISS

Caller Is Accused of Shooting Another's Wife, Cutting Girl and Man Who Interfered.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Mrs. Lena Weidman, proprietress of the manufacturing establishment in the Hotel Endicott, is dead; Pauline Ratel, a young woman who lived with her, and George Fallon, a florist, are seriously, if not fatally wounded, and Frederick Bergman, of 261 West 153d street, is slightly wounded, as a result of shooting and stabbing affray in the Weidman apartments, 80 West Eighty-second street, tonight.

According to a short ante-mortem statement made by Mrs. Weidman, Fallon was responsible for all the wounds, cutting and shooting her, himself and the others.

Mrs. Weidman lived with her husband, John Weidman, 50 years old, in apartments. After dinner tonight they were sitting in the flat with Miss Ratel and Bergman. Weidman left them to get medicine at a drug store. Not long after he had gone, Fallon, according to Bergman, called upon Mrs. Weidman.

Fallon seized Mrs. Weidman around the waist and attempted to kiss her. She resisted, and the other two came to her assistance.

As they attempted to restrain him, Fallon, who, either from liquor or some other cause, seemed desperate, struggled with them until they were in a bedroom. There he suddenly grabbed a razor from a bureau and cut a deep gash in Mrs. Weidman's throat.

Almost before the others had time to appreciate what he had done Fallon turned on them and slashed them viciously. Bergman went down with a cut across the forehead, and Miss Ratel was slashed twice.

One gash was across the mouth and cut her tongue in two.

Bergman declares Fallon cut Mrs. Weidman a second time, then drew a revolver and shot her twice over the heart. He shot himself in the right eye.

Fight Over Will of Retired Manufacturer Who Left $200,000, Reveals Penury.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—A contest over the will of Israel D. Goodman, a retired shirt manufacturer, who died last November, leaving more than $200,000, discloses that he lived in a squalid rear room in the cellar of a house he owned at 89 East Broadway, and for many years allowed his wife but 35 cents a day to pay their household and living expenses.

Neighbors believed that the aged man and wife, were poor and many times offered them assistance. Goodman always sent back word that he did not need help, but he never told any one that he was worth nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

The Goodmans had two children, a son and a daughter. The son, Bernard, is in the real-estate business on Lexington avenue, and the daughter is Mrs. Rachel Leah Gordon, wife of a merchant of Boston. There are three other heirs, grandchildren of the miser. They are William E. Dubins, a clothes cutter; Annie Brown, wife of a plumber, and Fannie Rosenzweig, whose husband runs a news stand in Astor place.

In his will, which was executed January 25, 1905, Goodman leaves Mrs. Gordon $1000 and each of the grandchildren $200. To his wife, who is seventy-five years old, he leaves an annuity of $14 a week. The balance of his fortune, with the exception of $2000 to charity, he gives to his son Bernard.

Mrs. Gordon and the grandchildren have retained Marks & Marks of 63 Park row to contest the will, and they have filed a notice of appearance in the Surrogate's Court. The widow has also filed notice. The contest is on the calendar for January 17.

It is alleged that Bernard Goodman exerted a strange influence over his father and compelled him to make his will in his favor. One of the grandchildren stated yesterday that whenever any of the relatives called upon the old man, Bernard was present and did all he could to keep the father in seclusion.

The aged miser was a devoted Talmudist and spent days reading Hebrew books on religion. He often declared that he needed food for his soul more than for his body, and he admonished his wife in this manner when she urged upon him the necessity of increasing the allowance for living expenses.

Woman's button, articles for wear when the snow flies, well shaped and of a good quality, are $1.75 a pair.

Smart little walking suits in dark blue or dark green, made of fine American broadcloth, are reduced to $20.

The arrival in this country of Lord Turnover is likely to cause a flutter among the title-hunting contingent of American heiresses. The picture is from a snapshot taken of his lordship as he landed from the Baltic. Lord Turnover is a remarkable young man. He is enormously wealthy; is the youngest member of Parliament, and, although he is entitled to a seat in the House of Lords, prefers to sit in Commons. He declares that while not hunting for a bride, he is not adverse to taking one home with him, provided she was a "peach."

ARRIVES ALIVE; WAITING CORTEGE IS DISMISSED

Husband Had Not Died--Has to Pay His Own Funeral Expenses on Returning Home.

GUTHRIE, Okla., Jan. 13.—A bill of $200 for his own funeral expenses, which included even the digging of a grave in the Stroud Cemetery, was paid this week by Pink Bond, a liverman of Kendrick.

When he stepped from a train which brought him back from New Mexico, after a year's absence, he was confronted by his wife and other relatives in deep mourning, who had accompanied a hearse to the station, expecting to take Bond's dead body to

Several days previously the wife received a message from New Mexico that Bond was very low and could not recover, advising her not to start for New Mexico, as she would arrive too late to see her husband alive. Soon afterward she received another message that the body would be shipped to Kendrick. She made all arrangements, incurred all funeral expenses, had the grave dug, met the train with a hearse and then fainted when Bond stepped from the train alive.

LOVE TIED IS TRUE LOVE

By WINFRED BLACK

H. T. Eaton of Lincoln, Neb., has divorced his wife because she kept telling him that the only reason she was not in love with him was because she was married to him.

Sensible Mr. Eaton! How much better it was to divorce her than to wait until she ran away from you.

"If we could live and work together as friends and lovers," wrote Mrs. Eaton to her husband, "I would gladly wish to be with you again. I don't believe in marrying any more. When you get a divorce and matters are righted, we can come together and again be friends."

"Clever lady," this Mrs. Eaton, isn't she? A man who believes in free love is a fool. Of course, he couldn't believe in free love if he were not a fool.

But a woman who believes in free love is a gibbering idiot, whom it would be base flattery to call a fool.

Marriage is the wall which men have been kind enough to erect to keep women from falling over the edge of things into the cruel sea of misery which is always sobbing just outside every honest woman's door.

The woman who tries to tear down that wall is not only a suicide, but a murderess, for there are other women than she who need protection, even if she hasn't enough sense to take it when it is offered to her.

Free love, free misery, free degradation, free desolation—that's what free love means to women. Free love—why, love has been free ever since the Garden of Eden—to women who were fools enough to be over-generous.

"If we could live and work together as friends and lovers," says Mrs. Eaton to her sensible husband, "I would gladly wish to be with you again." Ah, indeed! How nice! As if any human being was ever free of every tie on earth.

Why didn't Mrs. Eaton rise up in her crib and say to her mother: "As a woman I like you; as a mother, you bore me to death. Let's get a divorce and be happy."

If she has children, why doesn't she tell them that as human beings they are all right, but as children of her flesh they are nuisances—and get rid of them in the divorce court and be "free"—free to love other people's children as well as she does her own, free to adopt any stranger whose way of combing her hair she happens to like for a mother. Free to love and be loved by any passing stranger.

THE NEW YEAR TO DATE

When first the New Year came to town,
Appeared a baby boy
In nothing but a pair of wings
And smiles of dimpled joy.

But growing fast, the next decade
He wore a wig with curls,
And rode a fiery prancing steed,
And courted all the girls.

He next arrived in coach and four,
A squire in coat of blue,
And snowy stock, and buckled shoes,
And neatly ribboned queue.

Still making progress with the times,
A dandy with a cane,
Tall hat, tight waist, and ruffled shirt,
He made his bow again.

'Twas only one short year ago
We heard a rush and jar,
In dust and smoke before we stopped
A scarlet motor car.

Forth stepped a chauffeur clad in furs,
And, mid the mingled din
Of horns and bells invited us
To take a twelvemonth's spin.

But now above the chimneys, behold!
We listen in the night
To hear the whirling fans that bear
His aeroplane in flight.

—Minna Irving.

Buy Goldfield Diamond Drilling and Mining Company

Goldfield, Nevada

At 25 Cents a Share

A MINING COMPANY with a business feature that insures a working income to the company indefinitely.

A MINING COMPANY that will operate, not on one claim, but on many.

A MINING COMPANY that intends to have many paying mines in operation.

THIS IS ONE DISINTERESTED OPINION

The stock of the company will rapidly go to par and above, and the company will be a big dividend payer.

BECAUSE

The Goldfield Diamond Drilling and Mining Company is a mining company, it is also a mining company with a business feature that will give the Company an income from the day it puts its first drills to work

Goldfield is new, it has only just become learned that the gold ore lays in zones in the district, and just realized that these zones can be located, assayed, and their value determined with diamond drills

The Goldfield district is a blind one, that is, there is little or no outcrop to indicate where the ore bodies lie, and as far as surface indications show, one claim is no more valuable than another. On the surface of the Mohawk and other immensely rich mines in the district there was absolutely no outcrop and no indication that an immense gold deposit lay beneath the surface, so that claims are of great value only when it is proven that they contain rich ore bodies, for this reason many of the owners of claims lease their properties to companies who will develop them, receiving in payment for the lease only a royalty on the ore mined. The ordinary mining company prospects one claim or group of claims by sinking shafts. The Goldfield Diamond Drilling and Mining Company owns two full claims in the Goldfield District, the Corinth No 7 and Corinth No 8, and has arranged to lease some of the best territory in the proven zone of the Goldfield District, and will prospect its claims and those it will acquire by purchase and lease with Diamond Drills, and will have immense advantages over the ordinary company, as with its diamond drills and quick methods it can prove many claims in less time and at less expense than the ordinary company can prove one. With one 1,000 foot drill it can bore 20 prospect holes of 1,000 foot depth, pull the cores and assay every foot of them for less money and in one-tenth of the time that it could sink and timber one 500 foot shaft on the same ground.

The Goldfield Diamond Drilling and Mining Company will put six diamond drills in the field. The income from two of these drills on contract work will pay for operating four drills on our own claims, or on claims we may lease. When high grade ore is struck the income from our drills on contract will pay for sinking our shafts. In brief, the Goldfield Diamond Drilling and Mining Company is a mining company that after its first equipment of drills is in the field will be self-supporting.

The Company will mine the ore it locates, and that it will locate ore in this rich district is almost beyond question. The possibilities of the Company are unlimited.

Mr. G. B. Daniels, Treas.

Goldfield Diamond Drilling & Mining Co.,

Oakland, Cal.

Dear Sir:

A friend of mine handed me one of your pamphlets yesterday, and knowing that I was somewhat interested in Nevada Mining properties and had lately returned from Goldfield, asked my opinion of it.

I will tell you as I told him, that you have got the right proposition, and stand to win, big, and as "Stingy Bill" Betts is to manage the company it is good enough for me.

Kindly put me down for 4000 shares anyway, and I will call in a few days and see if I cannot make arrangements to take a little block of stock for myself and friends.

If you are not already aware of it, it might interest you to know that some of the larger companies in Goldfield have already bought drills for their own use, and more companies would do so if it were not for their large cost. Also can give you the names of half a dozen companies who I think would be pleased to contract with you.

There should be good ore on your Corinth claims. They have struck good ore on the Rochester and Pennsylvania which lay on both sides of the Corinth, and you know, and I know, that there will be more leases taken that will pay as well as the $5,000,000 a year Hayes-Monette.

Anticipating the pleasure of making your acquaintance in the near future, I remain,

Yours very truly,

James H. Grover

PRACTICAL LAWS BY LOCAL SALON

Alameda County Delegation Introduces Measures of Great Merit.

SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15.—The first day for the introduction of bills in the legislature closed with 214 measures on the files and this showing compares favorably with that of any year in the history of the legislature of this State.

There was an unprecedented rush in the assembly when Speaker Beardslee announced that he was ready to receive bills. In an instant there were fifty men on their feet on the floor and every one of them held aloft, as high as he could reach with his right arm, a bunch of quivering bills with which he sought to catch the eye of the speaker while, at the same time, he used his voice for the purpose of catching the ear of the same official.

AUTOCRAT.
For the space of about two hours Beardslee played the part of a legislative autocrat and recognized whomsoever he chose, after the manner of the speaker of the larger House of Representatives in Washington. He was cool, calm and collected and, it must be said, he gave all parts of the house a fair show although it was apparent that some of the members did not get the early recognition which they had expected.

JOHNSON OUTWITS SAN FRANCISCO.
The first man recognized by the speaker was Johnson of this city. This was a sore disappointment to the delegation from San Francisco who, on several days during the week just past, made fights for the purpose of deferring the introduction of bills until today, in order that they might have an opportunity of being the first to get in measures on the alphabetical plan, that is, to have the man whose name begins with the letter "A" introduce the first bill and so on all the way through the alphabet. That plan would have given the San Franciscans the first chance, because the first name on the list is that of Assemblyman Burke who is a resident on the other side of the bay.

ALPHABET ABANDONED.
The alphabet plan was not followed, however, the system employed being that called for by the rules which requires recognition of the members by the speaker. Johnson started off with seventeen bills and was followed on the jump by nearly all of the other members until, when an adjournment was taken, seventy-six bills had been referred to the several committees.

ALAMEDA DELEGATION NOT HASTY.
There was an absence on the part of the delegation from Alameda county of the legislature in the morning when the legislature opened its doors. They took their leisurely because most of them have had legislative experience and know that the earlier the better. The earliest bills are the earliest to get to the governor.

BURKE AND HEALTH BOARD.
Assemblyman Burke introduced measures that aid any other member of that delegation but they were measures which had been prepared by the State Board of Health and there was special provision why it was available to get them on the list at the earliest moment possible.

ALAMEDA'S CHARTER.
Assemblyman Otis and Senator Bates have introduced into both houses a current resolution for the approval of the charter of the City of Alameda, which was adopted by a majority of three to one some time ago. It is doubtful that the instrument will be ratified.

Another bill by Senator Bates provides for the transfer of the books of a recorder's court which has been abolished, to the court of the city justice in the same city. Although this measure is framed on general lines it has special reference to the City of Alameda. Some time ago the office of recorder in that city was abolished and since that time justice has been administered by the city justice in the person of Judge Tappan. But when the office was abolished, there was nothing done to make available the judgments which had been rendered by the recorder. In the event any of them were about to outlaw it was desired to have them continued. The transfer of the recorder's books to the justice's office of the place will, it is thought, afford the desired relief.

Senator Leavitt succeeded in getting a number of practical bills before the upper house. Some of them will be expedient a fight, which may not be ended much before the closing days of the session. The most important of these measures is that relating to the conduct of the insurance business in this State and reference will be found to that bill in another part of this issue.

REDUCING ELECTION OFFICERS.
Another bill of this Senator reduces the appointment of judges and clerks of election by Boards of Supervisors and the law is mandatory that those boards shall appoint eight election officers for each precinct. Senator Leavitt's amendment removes the mandatory character of the enactment and leaves it optional with the supervisors to appoint only four clerks if the board is satisfied that that number will suffice to perform the work.

BALLOT MACHINES.
Another of the Senator's bills has to do with ballot machines. It prohibits voting for a man on an irregular ticket which is to be found on every ballot machine, when the name of that candidate also appears on the face of the ballot.

BUGS TO KILL BUGS.

At the instance of Professor Elwood Cooper of the University of California, Senator Bates has presented a measure which will be of considerable interest to horticulturists throughout the State. It aims at the appropriation of $12,000 for the purpose of securing, preserving, housing and propagating what are known as beneficial insects. These insects are such as have an enemy to the insects which are such a pest to the orchardist, vineyardist, and, indeed, to every one who is engaged in the tilling of the soil. It is understood that the State Board of Agriculture is also behind this measure.

SANITARY DISTRICT PROPERTY.
Assemblyman Hans, one of the new members from Oakland, introduced one measure and he is of the opinion that it will be of great value to people who reside in sanitary districts. The bill proposes to have property in those districts, when it becomes delinquent, sold to the State. Mr. Hans says that there is no doubt that such a change in the manner of disposing of such property would save the parties who wish to retain it a world of trouble. Both Assemblyman Stetson and Senator Leavitt, in their respective houses, introduced bills calling for the appropriation of fifty thousand dollars for the erection of a dormitory at the Home for the Aged Blind in Oakland. These measures are endorsed by the State Board of Health. Many of the inmates have to sleep in the corridors of the home and it is said that those places are unventilated and unhealthy.
